

Fulton United Church of Christ

Church Book

1889 - 1940s

This is a general record of actions of the congregation, including baptisms, confirmations, marriages, and funerals as well as lists of members, communicants, officers, pastors, constitutions, and collections for benevolences. Traditionally, it was the pastor's duty to maintain and record in this book.

A valuable history of the beginning of the congregation (author not identified) is at the end of the book.

This print includes everything that is in the original book, with the sole exception of the records of the days/times that communion was taken by individual members 1890-1909, and index pages AB-YZ.

The "alphabet pages" AB through YZ occur between numbered pages 2 and 3 and served as a rudimentary index for the book, and serve no useful purpose. They have been replaced by a composed index for this print version, which follows immediately after this page you are reading.

In general, the pages of this print follow exactly the pages of the original, except where one topic (e.g., the constitution) is continued on later pages separated from the rest.

Recording in the book begins with the founding of the congregation in 1889. Topics end in different years, but most end in the 1940s. Apparently a second "church book" succeeded this one.

Writing is in German until 1918-1920. As was the custom, even when writing in German, the recorder often used English letters for personal names.

Names are spelled as they are entered in the record. Therefore some family names have various spellings.

Material within brackets [] has been added by the translator/transcriber.

--- = no entry in a blank

(?) = writing illegible

? = ? is in the original

x = a date is missing where one would be expected

The 314 numbered pages of the original are here printed on 102 pages. [Many pages of the original are blank.]

Constitution of the German Evangelical Congregation at Fulton, Mo.
August 5, 1889
[in German]
[pp. 15-20, 28]

[Note: The 1889 Constitution is also in the Minutes Book of the Congregation, but lacks the amendments.]

According to scripture, “Let all things be done decently and in order” (I Cor. 14:40), therefore, we, the undersigned, confess to the following constitution:

Article I – Name

The congregation has and retains the name: German Evangelical Congregation at Fulton, Mo.

Article II – Purpose

The purpose of our church organization is, shall be, and remain: To create and promote the fellowship in the devotion and knowledge of the Word of God [Scripture], as it is expressed in the Evangelical Church, through song and prayer and principally through the preaching of the pure and unadulterated Word of God and the Gospel of Jesus Christ, as well as through the administration of the holy sacraments, which are holy baptism and holy communion according to the sacramental words of Jesus Christ.

Article III Creed

The congregation acknowledged the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments as the Word of God and as the sole and unmistakable guiding principles of faith and life. In so doing, it confesses to the interpretation of Holy Scripture as laid down in the symbolical books of the Lutheran and Reformed Churches, of which the principal ones are: the Augsburg Confession, Luther’s Catechism, and the Heidelberg Catechism, in so far as they are in agreement with each other. In their differences the congregation retains for itself the freedom of conscience of interpretation of the pertinent points of Holy Scripture that is accorded by the Evangelical Church.

[p. 16]

Article IIII – Membership

§I Every member is required to:

- a) be baptized and confirmed or already be partaking of holy communion in an Evangelical Congregation and confessing to Article III of this constitution.
- b) lead a Christian life style.

c) attend worship services diligently and participate in the holy sacraments.

d) take part in financing the expenses of the congregation to the best of his ability and take interest in all that is to the betterment of the congregation's welfare.

e) profess to the congregation's constitution by signing it.

§II If someone wants to join the congregation, he must apply to a member of the council or to the pastor. The council publicly announces this application for joining two times. If no objection against approval arises, the applicant is approved in a public congregational meeting by vote,+ whereupon he then signs the constitution.

§III Women and young women, whose husbands or parents are not members of the congregation, can be members, if they sign the constitution.

§III Each male member, who has reached 20 years of age, has the right of voice and vote in all congregational meetings. All members have the duty to have their children baptized, instructed, and confirmed and to raise them in a Christian way and to be subject to the rules of the constitution and the decisions made at congregational meetings.

Article V – Church Discipline

Those who do not comply with the duties of a member of the congregation under Article III b, c, d, and e, [p. 17] after repeated, unsuccessful admonishments, will be stricken from the list of members and lose thereby all rights to church property. Still, the congregation is willing, at any time, to accept back those who recognize their wrong.

Article VI – [Pastor]

§1 The congregation has the exclusive right to call and dismiss its pastor. But the congregation may call and elect only a pastor who either is already a member of the Evangelical Synod of North America or is recommended for election by the President of the Missouri District.

§2 A written call, signed by the council of the congregation, will be issued to the elected pastor by the secretary of the congregation, in which his rights and duties are clearly and specifically given.

§3 As soon as the pastor has taken up his office, no one has the right to carry out official acts of the congregation or church, without his permission.

§4 The pastor has to conduct his office as preaching the Word of God faithfully and knowledgeably, without respect to persons, and to vigorously promote the welfare of the congregation. He, jointly with the council, has to practice church discipline, and he has to be in charge of and keep the church registers accurately.

§5 Should the pastor cause offenses himself, or should disputes occur between the pastor and the congregation, then, if the trouble remains unresolved by the church council, the congregation will turn to the District authorities of the Synod to settle the dispute.

§6 When the association between pastor and congregation is broken, three months' notice of dismissal, on both the side of the pastor and the side of the congregation, will be required. Only through gross negligence on the side of the congregation and through a great wrong on the side of the pastor, can this association be mutually broken.

§7 When the election of a pastor is necessary, the church council, through its secretary, will turn to the District President of the Synod to propose a suitable man for election, who will be voted on at the next opportunity. [p. 18] A majority of members present decides the election, after which all members will be informed of the election.

§8 The pastor will be elected in a public congregational meeting for an unspecified term.

§9 The salary of the pastor will be paid by the treasurer in quarterly installments.

Article VII – Officers of the Congregation

§1 The church council consists of the current pastor, three elders who are also at the same time the trustees of the congregation, and three deacons. Each year, the two who have served for the longest time leave the council, and they will be replaced by a new election. The departing ones may be re-elected. The election takes place in the general congregational meeting by paper ballot. Each year the council elects from among itself a president, secretary, and treasurer. The officially elected council will be introduced by the pastor on a suitable Sunday in front of the assembled congregation. The council has the duty to see that the salary of the pastor will be collected and paid, and that the congregational property is maintained. The council has no authority to spend a sum of more than $25.00, unless it is authorized by the congregation to do so.

§2 The deacons have to see that all goes well and orderly in the church building, to show visitors to seats in the church, to collect for benevolences each Sunday, and that, in the absence of the pastor, a worship service by readers takes place, if possible.

§3 The trustees are entrusted with the management of church property. They buy and sell only on the direction of the congregation. They also represent the congregation in legal affairs.

[p. 19]

§4 The president conducts the meetings of the congregation and church council. The pastor conducts them in his absence.

§5 The secretary records the ongoing business and decisions of the congregation in the minutes book, after reading aloud the minutes of the previous meeting at the opening of the meeting. He takes care of all monetary transfers and promissory notes, etc., with the president's signature, and in general looks after all written actions of the congregation.

§6 The treasurer has to faithfully keep the property of the congregation, whether in cash or paper. He has the authority to pay the pastor's salary. However, he has no authority to make any other special expenditures without instructions signed by the president or secretary. He has to file each year at the general meeting a report over income and expenses backed up completely with receipts. A committee consisting of 3 members of the congregation will be called to review on it. Also the council can examine the account books at any other time.

Article VIII – [Synod]

In order not to stand isolated and to ensure better its continued existence, the congregation, with its pastor, joins the German Evangelical Synod of North American at the next District meeting.

Article IX – [Meetings]

§1 The general meeting takes place the first week of every January. Order of business is: Opening by prayer. Reading of the minutes. Acceptance of new members. The council reports on the status of the congregation. The treasurer presents his account. [p. 20] The congregation elects a committee for three members to examine the reports. Election of new officers takes place. The chairman announces the results.

§2 Other congregational meetings may take place when the council or pastor deems such necessary. They will be announced 14 days prior to the meetings. The members present constitute a quorum. For a decision to be approved, one vote over one half of the cast votes is required.

§3 Amendments that do not contradict the main clauses of the constitution of the congregation, may be made in any properly called congregational meeting.

Article X

§1 Changes to this constitution can only be made when two thirds of all voting members vote in favor.

§2 Articles I, II, III, and X are unalterable, as long as three members adhere to the constitution.

§3 All property of the congregation is and remains the indivisible property of the congregation, as long as three members adhere to this constitution of the congregation.

§4 The congregation seeks statutory legalization by the State through incorporation.

The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, the love of God the Father, and the communion of the Holy Ghost be with us all. Amen.

Approved, August 5, 1889.

Addition to the constitution Article IX, 2, approved in the congregational meeting January 5, 1896:
Every first Sunday in the quarter year, at 2 in the afternoon, a regular congregational meeting will take place, in which pending business will be acted upon.

[p. 28]

Continuation from page 20. Changes to the congregational constitution. [Changes to Articles IV, VI, VII and X approved at meeting of January 12, 1911. They are stated here somewhat differently.]

Article IV

Instead of only male members over 20 years of age having the right of voice and vote in congregational meetings, now all members who have joined the congregation, whether male or female and also under 20 years of age, have the right of voice and vote in congregational meetings.

If someone wants to join the congregation, he notifies the local pastor or a member of the church council, and if there is no objection by any member of the congregation against the application for membership, then he will be approved by the assembled congregation as a member of the of the congregation.

Article VI

Instead of paying the pastor's salary in quarterly payments, payments can be made monthly.

Article VII

Section 1. Instead of the vote for congregational officers having to take place by ballot, voting can also take place by acclamation after the candidate has been nominated.

Instead of the council electing a president, vice president, and secretary from among themselves, they will be elected by the congregation.

Section 6. The treasurer can pay all current expenses before prior permission of the president or secretary.

Article X

Should the congregation dissolve, congregational property will devolve to the Evangelical Synod of North America.

List of Members 1889-1901

[pages 21-23]

[Note 1: Names of members were stricken through as they moved away, died, or otherwise were no longer members. Names are not stricken through here, because notes usually indicate those who moved away, died, etc.]

Copy of the list on pages 21-23, placed here by motion of a committee on April 15, 1903.

Only one enumeration is valid in the congregation.

Married women are not counted, as long as her husband is living; she has no voting right.

[Apparently the notes under "remarks" was made as events happened after the list was drawn up. Those remarks in German were likely made before those in English. Those in English are marked with *.]

Rules and Bylaws of the Evangelical Sunday School

[p. 73, insert]

[written in English]

Preamble: Since, by a change of the constitution of the Fulton Evangelical Church on April 20, 1931, the Sunday School became an integral of the church,

And since said constitution contains no provisions for governing the Sunday School, save the electing of the superintendent by the membership of the church, be it resolved that the Sunday School be conducted and governed by the following rules and bylaws.

Council: The governing body shall be a Sunday School council, consisting of the officers and teachers of the school. Decisions shall be arrived at by majority vote. The council shall meet monthly for the transaction of all business pertaining to the school. Five members present at such meeting shall be considered a quorum.

Officers: The officers of the Sunday School shall consist of a superintendent, assistant superintendent, secretary, treasurer, and pianist.

Duties of Officers: The Superintendent shall conduct the devotion exercises of the school and shall preside at the meetings of the Sunday School council. In the absence of the Superintendent or at his request, these duties shall be performed by the assistant Superintendent. The treasurer and secretary respectively shall perform all duties that pertain to their office.

Election of Officers: Officers shall be elected annually in the December meeting of the council and shall be for the term of one year and be installed on the first Sunday in June.

Teachers: Teachers for the adult class shall be elected by the respective class, on the Sunday preceding the first Sunday of the New Year. All other teachers shall be called by the Sunday School council.

Nothing contained in these rules and bylaws shall be construed as abrogating Art. VIII of the constitution of the Fulton Evangelical Church, wherein the pastor of the church is charged with the supervision of the religious education of the children of the church, and by virtue of this article the pastor is a member of the Sunday School council.

Changes and amendments: Changes and amendments may be made by a two thirds vote of the members of the council, but such changes must be in conformity with the constitution and the bylaws of the church.

These rules and bylaws shall be spread on the records of the Sunday School by the secretary, on the first meeting after their adoption.

Adopted March 3, 1935

Constitution 1922

[pp. 74-81]

[in English]

The following constitution was accepted and went into effect January 1, 1922.

Constitution of the Evangelical Church at Fulton, Mo.

Mindful of the Word of God: "Let all things be done decently and in order," I Cor. 14:40, we have adopted the following constitution for our congregation.

I. Name (See amendment Page 81)

The name of our Church Organization shall be and remain:

The Evangelical Church at Fulton, Mo.

II. Creed

The congregation recognizes the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments as the Word of God, and the sole and infallible guide of faith and of life and accepts the interpretation of the Holy Scriptures as given in the symbolic books of the Lutheran and Reformed Churches, the most important being: The Augsburg confession and Luther's and the Heidelberg Catechisms, in so far as they agree; but where they disagree the congregation adheres strictly to the passages of Holy Scripture bearing on the subject, and avails itself of the liberty of conscience prevailing in the Evangelical Church.

III. Membership

All persons possessing the following qualifications [p. 75] may become members of this congregation:

1. Those who are baptized and confirmed, or have already been communicant members of an evangelical denomination, and who accept paragraph II of this constitution as their creed; (Amended April 17, 1926 as per appendix)
2. Those who lead a Christian life;
3. Those who attend divine services regularly and make use of the Holy Sacraments;
4. Those who help bear the burdens of the congregation to the best of their ability;
5. And those who by their signature pledge themselves to be governed by this constitution.

IV. Administration and Duties of Officers

The church council of this congregation consists besides the pastor, who is ex officio a member, of six voting members elected by the congregation. At the organization of the congregation one half of the members of the church council are elected for two years and the other half for one year. Each year those members who have served longest retire, and are replaced by new members, so that the term of office of all members of the church council shall be two years. The church council organizes itself, and elects a chairman, secretary and treasurer from its own members. The regularly elected members of the church council are installed by the pastor in a regular church service on the first Sunday after their election, after which the organization takes place.

The church council organizes itself and elects a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer from its own members to serve as officers of the council and the congregation.

The president leads all meetings. He shall appoint a [p. 76] committee of three to examine the treasurer's books before the close of the year and report at the annual meeting of the congregation in January. (Transferred to July the first.)

The vice-president assumes the president's duties in the latter's absence.

The secretary keeps a record of all meetings of the congregation and the church council.

The treasurer has the safe-keeping of all valuable papers of the congregation; he also receives and disburses the funds of the congregation. A report on the standing of the treasury, on receipts and expenses for the year, is to be made by the treasurer at the annual meeting of the congregation in January. At the regular quarterly meetings of the church council he is to present a similar report for the quarter.

At the beginning of the year the church council appoints two young men and two alternates, members of the church, who receive the offerings and serve as ushers at the services for a term of one year.

In the annual meeting the church council shall report on the events of the year and the condition of the treasury. It shall be the duty of the church council to maintain order and exercise discipline in accordance with the principles of the order of worship in the Evangelical Synod of North America as prescribed by the Word of God: Matth. 18:15-17; I Cor. 5:1; 6:9-10; Gal. 5:16-21; 6:1-2; Luke 17:1-4; 2 Cor. 2:6-11. If questions or difficulties should arise which the church council cannot settle, it shall be its duty to apply to the president of the District to which the congregation belongs.

The church council is responsible for the administration of all church property, and the members are at the same time trustees for the congregation and represent it in all legal matters [p. 77] whenever necessary.

V. The Reception of New Members

Persons desiring to become members of the congregation shall apply to the church council. The pastor shall, upon resolution of the church council, announce such application on two consecutive Sundays in public service. If no valid objection against the reception of these persons as members is made, the applicants are received in public meeting of the congregation by a majority of vote, on which occasion the pastor shall make use of the prescribed form in the Evangelical Book of Worship. If objections are raised which the church council cannot set aside, the persons in question can be received only upon the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the active members of the congregation. (Amended 4/17/1926. See Appendix.)

VI. Rights and Duties of Members

Every member shall have a vote in all meetings of the congregation. All members pledge themselves to have their children baptized, instructed, confirmed and trained in Christian living, and also to conform to the ordinances of the congregation and the resolutions passed at its meetings.

VII. Membership in the Synod

The congregation desires to be and remain a member of the Evangelical Synod of North American and declares its readiness to assume the duties and privileges of members of this body as they are stated in sections 16-24 of the statutes. Only a pastor recommended and installed by the above Synod can be a minister of this congregation.

VIII. The Duties of the Pastor

It shall be the duty of the pastor:

1. To perform all the acts required by his ministry;
2. To see to it that the children and young people of the con-[p. 78]gregation receive the necessary religious instruction, according to the command of God, "Feed my lambs";
3. To prepare young people for confirmation, if possible in a two-year course;
4. To visit the sick and otherwise exercise the duties of a faithful pastor;
5. To set the members of the congregation a good example in life and conduct;
6. To lovingly seek and win indifferent members, and to admonish the fallen in love and humility.

If the election of a pastor becomes necessary, the secretary of the church council shall request the president of the District to recommend a suitable candidate, whose name shall be first voted upon. Only in case this candidate has not been elected another candidate may be recommended. The pastor is elected by ballot in public meeting of the congregation for an indefinite period. The pastor's salary is to be paid regularly in monthly installments by the treasurer of the congregation. In order to sever the relation between pastor and congregation three months' notice shall be required from either side.

After his election, the pastor shall receive a written call from the secretary of the congregation, signed by the church council, in which his rights and duties are clearly and definitely stated. After the pastor has assumed his office in the congregation no other pastor shall perform official acts in the congregation or its house of worship without his consent.

IX. Order of Service

The order of service shall be conducted according to the rites of the Evangelical Church, and the holy sacraments are to be administered according to the words of institution by our Lord. Whenever possible baptism is to be performed in the [p. 79] church. In service and official ministrations as well as in the instruction of the young the books of the Evangelical Synod are to be used.

X. Meetings

The annual meeting of the congregation takes place in ~~January~~. The first Sun. in Oct. Special meetings may be held whenever the pastor or the church council deem them necessary, or when one-third of all voting members petition the church council in writing for such a meeting, with a statement of the reasons therefor. The president of the congregation conducts all meetings, which are to be opened and closed with prayer by the pastor. Meetings of the church council are to be held at the beginning of every quarter and oftener when necessary. Every meeting of the congregation must be publicly announced on two preceding Sundays. Concerning the manner of voting see Art. XII. The order of business for the annual meeting in January shall be as follows: Opening prayer. Roll call. Reading of minutes of preceding meetings not yet accepted. Admission of new members. Report of the church council on the events of the year. The treasurer's annual report. Unfinished business. New business. Election of officers. Adjournment with prayer.

XI. Property of the Congregation

All property of the congregation is and forever remains its undivided possession. In the event of a division in the church the verdict of the Evangelical Synod of North America in regard to the property is to be obtained and recognized as final. The congregation seeks legal recognition by means of its incorporation.

XII. Changes, Quorum, etc.

Additions and changes to this constitution may be made in any regularly called meeting. Paragraphs I, II, XI, and XII are unchangeable as long as three members agree to maintain them. One vote more than half of those cast is sufficient to make a resolution binding. Changes in the constitution, however, can only be made when [p. 80] two-thirds of the voting members vote in favor of a change. Any regularly called meeting may pass binding resolutions; absent members vote with the majority.

The peace of our Lord Jesus Christ and the love of God and the communion of the Holy Spirit be with us all. Amen

Changes and Alterations

The following changes and alterations to this Constitution have been made in compliance with Art. XII and in manner prescribed therein.

Art. I is changed as follows: "Name and Purpose."

Sec. A - The name of this organization shall be and remain "The Fulton Evangelical Church."

Sec. B - It shall be the purpose and aim of this church to own and maintain a place of worship dedicated to the services of the Lord, where public worship shall be conducted regularly on the first day of the week. These services shall be conducted in accordance with the prevailing usages of the Evg. Synod of N. America.

Sec. C - To maintain an organized Sunday School for the purpose of disseminating religious education without discrimination as to denomination affiliation of those wishing to attend. The "school" shall be in charge of a Superintendent who shall be elected annually by a popular vote of the members of the church. The other officers shall be elected annually by the enrolled membership of the Sunday School. (Adopted April 20, 1931, at a special call meeting.)

[p. 81] Art. V. shall be so construed and amended that the name of an applicant for membership shall only be brought before the members in open session, if the Church Council is unable to reach a decision and only in this event shall a public announcement be made by the pastor of the church concerning the pending application.

Adopted in special meeting on the Seventh Day of April 1926

Art. III. In addition to what has been enumerated in this article regarding the necessary qualifications for membership in this church, is added the following.

"And all persons presenting a letter of membership from any other Christian denomination and such adults who have made a public confession of Christian faith, and who are baptized."

Adopted in special meeting on the Seventeenth Day of April 1926

Congregational History of the German Evangelical Congregation

[pp. 312-314]

[translated from the German]

[Note: The author is not identified, but from the years covered and the references to "the Pastor", it is likely that Pastor Wm. Meyer wrote this.]

In spring 1888 Pastor F. Klick, during a visit to his mother on Auxvasse Creek, learned that a large number of Evangelical Christians lived in and around Fulton without spiritual care. Fully twenty years ago a Reformed congregation was organized but they had a preacher for only a short time. Also, Evangelical pastors from Jefferson City preached here in the 1870s from time to time. And a German Presbyterian pastor always preached on Sunday afternoons in the English church, but the Germans considered him more distant than close. Only a few attended his worship services and he did not encourage them to attend. Soon several German men came to realize there was an opportunity to start a mission at this place. Pastor Klick held a worship service, and then it was arranged that still more should take place. Theological candidate F. Trefzer(?) was sent here for Good Friday and Easter [1889?] at the instigation of the Reverend at the Board of Missions of the Missouri District of the German Evangelical Synod of North America. Then after him candidates Nicolai, Schroeder, Meyer, Geobel, Brendjes, Bettex, Meisenhalten, and Kienly preached, and Pastors Berens and Walser, each once. After that Pastor Wm. Meyer, who had just been ordained, was sent to Fulton, Mo., to cast out the fishing net. Of course, it was not joyful at first. The young pastor's courage would often sag, but he continued with the support of those who sent him there. The Lord helped through prayer and understanding. On August 5 [1889] an Evangelical congregation was organized and a congregational constitution was approved. Eighteen male members [p. 313] signed it. Among those who stood faithfully at the side of the pastor at the founding of the congregation and who rendered great service can be named: Fr. Lorenz, August Fischer, John Langenbach, Ewald Petri, and Peter Wichmann.

The Reformed congregation sold its lot on Asylum and Nichols Streets to the Evangelical congregation for $1. The worship services were always held in the house standing on that lot, and the congregation was inclined to be satisfied with it. In the New Year meeting 1890 it was discussed whether a church should be built. There were those without courage who opposed the project and were not pleased with it. Only after appeals by the Pastor was the decision finally made that we would build a church. Nothing further was said. But that decision was acted upon the next morning when Pastor Meyer, in company with John Langenbach, began working for the church building. With excited and joyful hearts it was announced the next Sunday that the subscription list had already exceeded $1,000. It should be mentioned that Aug. Fischer especially was untiring in collecting for the church building. Still, one should not be worried with that, since other members had not yet contributed to that work. The Pastor must admit from his heart that almost all members of the congregation had given joyfully and to their abilities. And although a number of Germans who were not members of the congregation, showed little love to this work, it must also be noted that other Germans and many, many English townsfolk helped us in a generous way. Also, the Ladies Aid worked mightily for the interior furnishings. Even the small Sunday School, which was started on August 25, brought in $216 during its first two years for the congregation [p. 314] and other purposes. Along with the pastor, Phil. Backer has worked very faithfully and untiringly for the success of the Sunday School.

The church building was dedicated on May 18 [1890?]. After a short worship service in the old house, the congregation moved into the new church. The local pastor consecrated it to the work of the tri-une God, and Inspector L. Haeberle of the Evangelical Preachers' Seminary gave the dedication sermon. In the afternoon Pastors F.A. Umbeck [of California, Mo.] and K. Koch preached, as well as Pastor J.U. Schneider [of Jefferson City, Mo.] in the English language. The church was debt free in August, and it was decided to build a parsonage. The old part of the house was torn down and re-built as a woodhouse. Three rooms were built onto the main part of the house, which extended it 30 feet to the west. A total of $500 was contributed for this. In September 1889 an organ was bought for $65 and covered by pledges.

In September 1891 a bell was bought, which was covered by pledges. The Sunday School contributed $87 for it.
